ALBERT LAMB LINCOLN, Jun., Secretary.

PREFACE.

It was voted in 1881 that a Class Report should be published this year, and for that purpose the Secretary sent his usual circular to all the Class, to the addresses which he had. Only two were returned as not having been delivered, and one of those was subsequently sent to the right address. The following pages therefore contain all the information you have furnished me, and perhaps I ought to be satisfied in getting as many replies as I did. "You may lead a horse to water, but you cannot make him drink." So I may send some of you innumerable circulars, but cannot get you to reply. In some cases personal interviews have been necessary to get any information. The following record, therefore, is incomplete, and does not contain as much information as it might. I wish to thank those who responded promptly, as the majority of the Class did, and trust that those who did not reply will not blame me for the blanks which appear against their names.

After consulting with one of the Class Committee I have placed Mills's name in the regular list of the Class, which seemed to us proper under all the circumstances; he left College only two months before our commencement; in 1875 he received his degree, and his name appears in the University Catalogue with the rest of the Class of 1872.

It is to be remembered in examining the report, that it is merely a continuation of the last, and covers the period from June, 1881. The summarized tables at the latter part, however, cover the whole period since graduation, and will show the principal events in most of our lives. It is sad to see our numbers diminishing so fast: since June, 1881, Horace Brown, Field, Frost, and Weld have left us, and of the one hundred and twelve who assembled at the tree in '72, only ninety-nine are left. By placing Mills in the Class proper, we number just one hundred.

The report of the Class Fund is printed by itself, as in 1881. I wish to remind the Class that all notices of any meetings, dinners, &c., are published in the Boston Daily Advertiser and Evening Transcript, three days before the event; that dinners are given annually, of which special notice is given by circular every fifth year only, which is the year of the University Quinquennial Catalogue.

Please notify me at once of any error in this report, and of any change in your address, or occupation.

graduation "he came to Salem and studied law in the office of Mr. S. B. Ives, Jun., was admitted to the bar and continued in the practice of the law till his death. *ALFRED WITHINGTON FIELD. At the commencement meeting of the Class, June 27, 1883, the following sketch of Field's life was read by Sheldon, and resolutions were passed which may be seen in the Class Book, a copy of which was sent to his cousin, in accordance with the vote of the Class: "Alfred Withington Field was born in Leominster, May 15, 1851, and was the son of Caleb C. Field, M. D., and Mrs. Hannah Crosby [Danforth] Field. He attended school in his native place, and entered college in 1868, where he showed himself to be a most diligent and capable student. He was a member of the Everett Athenæum in his sophomore year, and afterwards of the Pi Eta Society. After graduation he was appointed assistant in the chemical laboratory, and afterwards proctor, and devoted himself to chemistry, which he had begun studying in college. He also delivered lectures in the college in place of Professor Jackson, during the latter's absence in Europe. In the year 1875 he was appointed to a Parker Fellowship, and sailed for Europe in July in company with Gooch, with whom he also passed some time in Dresden and in Switzerland before the beginning of the university semester. He was chosen a member of the German Chemical Society of Berlin in October, 1875. His work at the University of Berlin began seemingly under the most promising circumstances, but within a few weeks symptoms of diabetes appeared and with such severity that he was obliged to give up work and return home in December, 1875, to engage in an almost hopeless struggle for health. It was a terrible blow to him to be thus obliged to give up for a considerable time, and perhaps altogether, his chosen work, but he applied himself manfully to the task before him. The treatment was chiefly dietetic, and it cut him off from some of the commonest articles of food, making necessary the strictest self-denial. For a time it seemed that health might return, but the treatment was hardly more than a palliative one, and only succeeded in diminishing or for a time preventing the manifestations of the disease without removing its cause, and for the last few years he had gradually been losing ground, and there could no longer be any hope of his recovery. He had been a proctor in the college since September, 1876, and had also done chemical work, but he finally gave up his position in 1880 and returned to Leominster, though he afterward made several short visits to Cambridge. With admirable fortitude he refused to give up to despair, and struggled on, doing all that could be done, but all was in vain. He died in Leominster, July 29, 1882."

HENRY MIDDLETON FISHER. Writes: "Returned from Europe Nov. 1881, and was soon afterwards elected physician to out-patient department of the Pennsylvania Hospital in Philadelphia. Was elected in the Spring of 1883 attending physician to the Episcopal Hospital. From February, 1883, to January, 1885, served as district physician to the Philadelphia Dispensary. Have devoted a good deal of time to microscopy and was recently elected microscopist to the Pennsylvania Hospital. Have not, however, done any original work in this department. Am also manager of several charitable societies. Am a member of the Pathological and Obstetrical Societies, of the Academy of Natural Sciences, and a Fellow of the College of Physicians of Philadelphia." Expects to go abroad this month, when his address will be, care of J. S. Morgan & Co., 22 Old Broad street, London, E. C.

GEORGE FISKE. No change. Resides in Weston, Mass.

THOMAS FRENCH, Jun. Was appointed Professor of Physics in the University of Cincinnati in March, 1883, which position he now holds. Is a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and the author of various scientific papers and reviews. Since the last report, a son, Laurence Elwell, was born Jan. 16, 1883, and a daughter, Vida Rachel, born Feb. 26, 1885. Resides in Cincinnati, O.

WILLIAM CLIFFORD FRENCH. Is still Treasurer of "The Color-Printing Machine Company," Boston, and resides at 97 Newbury street, Boston.

*WILLIAM PRESCOTT FROST. Sent a reply to the Secretary, April 27, from San Francisco, as follows: "Closed his connection with the Evening Post, June 1, 1884. Was afterwards attached for a few months to the staff of the Daily Report, since which time continued ill health has compelled him to cease employment. In 1884 he wrote a Democratic campaign pamphlet entitled 'Sumptuary Laws.'" Hardly had the above been received when the following from the Lawrence Daily Eagle of May 7 last was sent me by Palmer: "William P. Frost died at San Francisco, California, Tuesday, May 5th, of consumption, aged 34 years 4 months and 9 days. Mr. Frost was a native of Kingston, N. H. He was educated in the schools of this city, receiving an English diploma in 1867 and a classical diploma in 1868. He entered Harvard College in July, 1868, at the age of seventeen years and six months. During his four years' course he received several prizes; was a member of the Phi Beta Kappa society, and was graduated from the institution in 1872. For one year after leaving college Mr. Frost was principal of a private academy at Lewistown, Pennsylvania. In September, 1873, he went to San Francisco, where he resided until his death. On the arrival of Mr. Frost in California he adopted the profession of journalist, and was for the first two years employed on the Daily Bulletin, afterwards on the San Francisco Post, as city editor and manager. The latter position he retained until about one year ago, when he resigned on account of ill health. The deceased leaves a wife and two children in California, and a mother and father in this city to mourn his early death. The remains will be brought to Lawrence for interment." In his biography in the Class Book, he writes: "I was led seriously to think of coming to college in May, 1868, by my failure to obtain an appointment to West Point, for which I had tried very hard, and in which I was thwarted by political influence." He chummed with Sheldon, the Freshman year, and with Brickett the Junior year. He had a fondness for history, especially political history, and took much interest in political economy. At the time he wrote his biography he was undecided whether to go into journalism or law, though as early as July, 1871, he had begun to report for the Saturday Evening Gazette.

RICHARD AUGUSTINE GAMBRILL. [Have received no reply from him.]

GEORGE ALONZO GIBSON. Is Treasurer of the Ivers and Pond Piano Company, Boston. Resides, Forest street, Medford, Mass.

FRANK AUSTIN GOOCH. Writes: "In Oct., 1881, ceased to be officially connected with the Census Bureau, though retaining actual charge of the laboratory in Newport, until the completion of the chemical work nine months later. Was chief chemist of the Northern Transcontinental Survey, office at Newport, R. I., from Oct., 1881, until the end of the Survey in the Spring of 1884, at which time I received an appointment on the U. S. Geological Survey, at Washington, D. C. This position I still hold. I was in Mexico a few weeks during the winter months of 1883, and in the Yellowstone National Park during the field season of 1884." Is a member of the Newport Natural History Society, the Philosophical Society of Washington, the Chemical Society, the Cosmos Club and Harvard Club, all of the latter city. Has published two papers in the Volume for 1885 of the Proceedings of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences: (1) A Method of Filtration by means of easily soluble and easily volatile Filters; (2) On the Separation of Titanium and Aluminum, together with a Note upon the Separation of Titanium and Iron. FRANK ROCKWOOD HALL. Practising law in Boston. Is President of the Brookline Thursday (Literary) Club, and Chairman of the Republican Town Committee.

ROBERT SPRAGUE HALL. Writes: "During the years ending with June, 1882 and 1883, respectively, taught privately one pupil. In May, 1882, gave up the study of law, in consequence of bad health. In the following July and August taught gratuitously in two of the Boston summer schools, and at about the same time became a visitor for the Associated Charities in Boston. In 1882–83, endeavored to establish a Kindergarten in Charlestown, which for ten months was held in my home; but lost heavily. During the summer of 1883, travelled for seven weeks, visiting various places within twenty-four hours' travel from Boston. In September of that year, went to D. Lothrop's, where I remained on nominal wages till Jan., 1884. Took up book-canvassing, first for special books, then for anything between covers, and finally for law books, in which I am still to a slight extent engaged. But in 1880, in Omaha, I had begun to practise writing for publication, and finished a small book, which occupied me ten days in the writing, and fortunately never saw the light. Some less ambitious attempts succeeded this, and resulted in the publication of several short stories, not paid for. Then I wrote another novel, which also fortunately escaped publication. Then, more stories, one of which was liberally paid for. During the past six months, I have prosecuted my literary studies with some success — not pecuniary. Besides this work, I have, since Jan., 1884, devoted some hours a day to the systematic practice of piano-forte music, with a view to teaching. Am not able to point to anything, at present accessible, which has been printed with my name. A poem on Emerson and an essay upon his writings appeared in a local paper, and an article upon Manual Calisthenics is awaiting publication. The story of 'Katy's Word' will shortly appear in the Youth's Companion." Is unmarried. Resides in Charlestown, Mass.

ASA GUSTAVUS HAPGOOD. Is Treasurer of Fairchild Paper Co. Resides in Boston.

principally on Mineralogy and Geology. Am a member of the Appalachian Mountain Club; Boston Mass. Rifle Association; Life Member Deutscher und Oesterreichischer Alpenverein, Section Bonn; Niederrheinische Gesellschaft für Natur und Heilkunde; Deutsche Geologische Gesellschaft. Have published 'Hubbard's Guide to Moosehead Lake and Northern Maine,' being 3d edition of 'Summer Vacations, etc.,' A. Williams & Co., Boston, and 'Woods and Lakes of Maine,' in November, 1883, by J. R. Osgood & Co., Boston. Frances Johnson was born in Bonn, Dec. 5, 1883."

PETER HULME. Writes: "I fancy a repetition of the lines devoted to me in the last published Report will afford the requisite information for this year's edition. As we grow older events come more rarely, perhaps because time passes more quickly. 'Happy is the man (family or nation) whose annals are uneventful.'" Is practising law in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

EDWARD WEBSTER HUTCHINS. Has continued to practise law as a member of the firm of Hutchins & Wheeler, Boston. Has two daughters, Louise, born Nov. 20, 1881, and Helen, born Feb. 8th, 1884. Resides, 113 Marlborough street, Boston.

There has been paid in since June 15, 1881, $622.50, of which $582.50 was paid to the Trustee of the Fund in 1882, leaving a balance of $40.00 unpaid, $30.00 of which was received June 6, 1885. The total amount paid by the Class to the Trustee of the Fund is $4,051.20, nearly $400.00 more than has been paid in to the Class Fund.

CLASS MEETINGS.

1881—1885.

Triennial Dinner, June 28, 1881.

The third Triennial Dinner took place at "Young's." There were forty-two members of the Class present. Young presided. The Secretary's Fourth Report was distributed.

Eighth Meeting, June 29, 1881.

Held at Thayer 3; F. R. Hall, chairman. The Secretary's Fourth (printed) Report was submitted and accepted, and likewise the printed report of the Class Fund. It was voted that the next Class Report should be published in 1885, the same year with the University Quinquennial Catalogue. Letters were read from Ledyard and C. H. Russell as to the period in which we should have Class Dinners. The subject was discussed to some extent, and it was voted to postpone the question until the next Class meeting, the Secretary in the meantime to communicate with the Class and get an individual expression of opinion. The meeting then adjourned.

Decennial Dinner, June 27, 1882.

By a special circular, sent to the Class after the last meeting, it was arranged to have a Decennial Dinner, which took place at Young's, was attended by thirty-nine members, and much enjoyed, apparently, by all present. The Secretary reported at the dinner the result of his circular in regard to how often Class Dinners should be given, which was as follows: In favor of annual dinners, 28; biennial, 2; triennial, 14; quinquennial, 5; at longer intervals and indifferent, 7. Some discussion took place, but it was finally voted, unanimously, to have annual dinners, and to make the dinner every fifth year a special occasion.

Ninth Meeting, June 28th, 1882.

Held at Thayer 4; called to order at 12.40. F. R. Hall, chairman. The Secretary's Reports of last year's meeting, for the year, and of the Class Funds, were read and accepted. The vote as to Class Dinners, taken last evening, was announced. The Secretary reported the death of Weld, but it being represented by his nearest friends that he would have desired no action to be taken by the Class, no resolutions were passed. The meeting then adjourned.

First Annual Dinner, June 26, 1883.

Took place at "Young's," twenty-four members of the Class being present, who made up by their spirits for lack of numbers. It was voted a success by all present.

Tenth Meeting, June 27, 1883.

Held at Thayer 3: called to order at 1 P. M., Tomkins chairman. Secretary presented his customary annual reports, which were accepted. The death of Field was reported, and Sheldon read a brief sketch of his life, and resolutions were presented and adopted by the Class. The meeting then adjourned.

Second Annual Dinner, June 24, 1884.

Took place at "Young's," twenty members being present. Hutchins presided. A committee of three was appointed to assist the Secretary in preparing for the Dinner in 1885.

Eleventh Meeting, June 25, 1884.

Held at Thayer 3. The Secretary was unable to attend either the dinner or the meeting this year, on account of absence from the city. No business came before the Class.
